ISKCON Food Relief Foundation is Working to Uplift the Society's Healthy Future to India

New Delhi, Delhi, India -- (Business Wire India) -- Saturday, May 28, 2011 5:43:00 PM

ISKCON Food relief foundation, an NGO based in Delhi & NCR is working towards the betterment of the society by helping to break the vicious circle of hunger and poverty that restricts educational and development opportunities of unprivileged children by providing them regular, nutritious food as mid day meal. Mid day meal is an important factor in the growing children, as it is the factor that monitors health, energy and will to work or study in every child.

The Foundation has taken up an initiative to feed nearly 450,000 children across Delhi and NCR in the form of mid day meal and NDMC, who otherwise are not able to afford a healthy meal. The NGO has a technical tie up with the NDMC and is ISO 9001 certified. The food which is sent to MCD and NDMC schools are hygienically prepared and are tested for the appropriate percentage of proteins, carbohydrates, etc that a growing child needs to maintain a good health.

The NGO has a total of 1000 staff in Delhi & NCR that looks after overall performance and functioning of the kitchen, hygienic and nutritious food to the children from underprivileged background. The NGO have customised cooking purposes, which ranges from rice cookers - capable of making 3600 kilograms of rice in 1 hour machine capable of making 20,000 Poooris in 1 hour. The food is prepared keeping in mind all aspects of health and maintaining the nutritional value of food therefore the food is prepared by steam heating without the use of fire. 100 customised vehicles are deputed to deliver the ready to eat food to different schools across Delhi. The food containers are sealed to ensure that the food reach the needy with no manipulation or in lesser quantity.

Wastage of water and other resources is maintained very efficiently as the NGO uses Effluent Treatment Plant. The water obtained from this plant is used for cleaning the vehicles and gardening. On the other hand, the vegetable items are controlled by donating the food to the pig farms when the quantity exceeds the required amount. The NGO does not make re-use of the same food for the children.

The NGO is getting support from Corporate-houses, Businessmen who donate generously, and also from the Government as it gives Rs. 2.89 to the NGO for each meal they provide to the children. While each meal costs Rs.5/- and the NGO is in real need of funds to be allocated for continuing successfully the generous provision of food to the poor children.

Many of the children who used to work as child labour or were forced to get indulged in beggary are now attending the schools knowing the fact that they will get good food to eat. It motivates them to come to school as they can. This program of the NGO has increased the enrolment of children in schools at noticeable levels.

We have launched 24th Kitchen in Gurgaon on 22 May 2011. The Chairman of the Trust H.H Gopal was present, and other eminent personalities like dignitaries and industrialists of India also graced the inauguration. The Executive Committee of the Mid-Day Meal Programme comprising of 30 members including industrialists, businessmen and politicians would give a word of advice and commitment on ensuring sustainable development of the society.
